Goodbye, Gartner; Viva NETg!

Gartner Group information technology courses, which have been in use at the University of Florida since 1997, are no longer available. The three-year agreement with Gartner Group expired as of April 30, 2001.

This doesn't mean the end of online training, however.

Thanks to UF's partnership with NETg, hundreds of courses on information technology subjects will continue to be available to UF faculty, staff, and students at http://netg.ufl.edu/welcome.

The Gartner products that are no longer available include:

- Talking Technology
- Decision Drivers
- Gartner on-line courseware
- Data Pro
- Gartner research
- DataQuest

NETg courses will continue to be available through 2003, with new courses added frequently. Because of their continuing availability and their ready-when-you-are accessibility, these courses can be a valuable addition to regular classroom work for students or a skill-sharpening resource for faculty and staff.

As with the Gartner materials, you will need to be connected to the Internet via the UF intranet and have a GatorLink account to access these materials. For more information on NEETg, see "NETg Tutorial Now Available Online."
