UF Recognizes Dr. Dick Elnicki's 30 Years of Service

During a reception for OIT and NERDC, Vice Provost Chuck Frazier and former NERDC Director Ron Schoenau recognized Dick Elnicki, associate director for the data center, for his 30 years of service to the University of Florida.

"It's been a great trip," Elnicki said after receiving his 30-year service pin from Schoenau. Schoenau and Frazier lauded Dr. Elnicki at the reception held on April 3, 2002, for his years of service.

Elnicki's history with NERDC started when he began helping with "number crunching" during the summer of 1976. He created computer models for developing revenue projections and usage trends that have become integral to strategic planning for NERDC. His research at that time evaluated prices, costs, and usage volumes over the useful life of large system computers. He has also written numerous pieces of documentation on NERDC systems, making them available for distribution to NERDC users.

Elnicki also chaired the Instruction and Research Users' Committee from 1974-1976. In 1991, he was appointed Associate Director for the summers he spent at NERDC. In 1998, his Associate Director duties at NERDC took more than half-time appointment year-round. When not working for NERDC, Elnicki has been teaching full-time as a professor of Decision and Information Sciences.

His newest duties for NERDC have him acting as a liaison between the data center and Frazier's office until a permanent director is appointed.
