Web Strategies Course Coming Soon

David Carlson, from the College of Journalism and Communications, will present "Communicators in Cyberuniversity: A Look at Web Strategies" on March 18 from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. in room 316 of the stadium.

This workshop provides a great overview on how to design a Web site and includes a useful review of "do's" and "don'ts."

This course is designed to help UF Communications Network (UFCN) professionals use computer resources and the World Wide Web more effectively. It also is a "core course" in the UFCN track of the Computer Challenge. The Computer Challenge's UFCN track was designed in collaboration with the Office of Public Relations and a number of other offices on campus including CNS, the Center for Instructional Technology and Training, Division of Human Resources, and others.
